

Kathleen Cloud: Brief Biography

Background and Experience:

Associate Professor of the College of Agriculture, Consumer and Environmental Sciences, University of Illinois; Principal Investigator of the Gender and Agribusiness Project (GAP); former Director of the Office of Women in International Development; director of a series of programs on women and world food systems, and consultation on gender training at universities, United States Agency for International Development, The Ford Foundation, several UN agencies, and The World Bank. K. Cloud has a doctorate from Harvard.

Development related work performed by K. Cloud in the following continents and countries:

Africa: Malawi, Ethiopia, Tanzania, Zambia, Lesotho, Swaziland, Kenya, Senegal, Niger, Mali, Burkina Faso, and Zimbabwe

Asia: Indonesia, India, Bangladesh, Sri Lanka

Selected Publications:

Include articles, chapters, and entire works on women in agriculture and households, gender, and gender training for development planning.