

Shubh Kumar-Range- Brief Biography

Background and Experience:

Over twenty years experience in research and analysis on international agriculture, food, and nutrition policy from a gender perspective. Specific positions include Research Fellow at the International Food Policy Research Institute in Washington DC, and Senior Technical Advisor on Sustainable Agriculture and Food Security for the United Nations Development Programme, New York. Experience also includes extensive program planning, monitoring, and evaluation working with NGOs, international and national development agencies, such as UNICEF, FAO, IADB, IFAD, USAID, WFP, CARE and The World Bank.

S. Kumar-Range is currently a Visiting Scholar at the M.S. Swaminathan Research Foundation in India where she is studying the role of local institutions (formal and informal) in shaping gendered economic roles and performance. She has a doctorate in education from Cornell University, and a Bachelor's and Master's of Science degrees from Delhi University.

Development related work performed in the following continents and countries:

Africa: Zambia, Ethiopia, and other Horn of Africa countries

South Asia: India, Nepal, Bangladesh

Selected Publications:

Include articles, chapters, and entire works on rural development, and women's income sources and uses.